SEVIERVILLE - Andy WoW! Chicken Fingers, the newest restaurant to join the Sevierville community, is hosting Waffle Fries for Charity to help local high schools raise money.

Waffle Fries for Charity donation days will be held at Andy WoW! the week of April 20. All proceeds from the sale of waffle fries, including those sold in the purchase of a combo meal, will be donated to Sevier County Schools.

On Friday, April 24 all waffle fry proceeds will go to the SHS Vocal Group to assist in the production of Oklahoma!

"Since our opening on April 11 the Sevierville community has shown great support and enthusiasm for Andy WoW!. Many guests have called us the coolest restaurant in Sevierville," said Craig Warner, District Manager, Andy WoW! Chicken Fingers. "Waffle Fries for Charity is our chance to give back and become a driving force in making a difference to the lives of Sevierville students and their families," he continued.

Andy WoW!, held the grand opening of its first location, located at 1820 Parkway Road, on April 11 of this year. The new concept was founded with the simple idea to empower youth to make wise choices and to celebrate life.

Andy WoW! Chicken Fingers is best known for its made to order hand-battered signature chicken fingers, crisp waffle fries, Texas toast and fresh coleslaw, which are served with a side of Words of Wisdom. For more information, visit www.AndyWoW.com.
