

WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 20, 2006

Glory Foods Introduces 'Sensibly Seasoned'

Community News — 9/20/06 Submitted Photo

Glory Foods maintained a significant presence at this year's Indiana Black Expo, where interest in the company's products drew large groups of visitors.

Glory Foods® has introduced Sensibly Seasoned™, a new line of heat-and-serve vegetables that are low in sodium, fat and are meatless. Sensibly Seasoned products boast all of the flavorful seasoning that consumers expect from Glory Foods while providing healthy benefits as well.

The ten new products in this line include tomatoes, okra and corn, tomatoes and okra, string beans, mixed greens, collard greens, turnip greens, blackeye peas, pinto beans, red beans and black beans. All of these products are now available at supermarkets across the country.

"Glory Foods offers Southern-style seasoned and savory foods in its line of products. That is the heritage Glory has among its consumers, as well as the reputation we have built with our grocers nationwide," said G. Barry Huff, president of Glory Foods. "Sensibly Seasoned is a proud continuation of our tradition for providing great tasting products.

"This line offers a savory, quick and easy solution for busy people who have to answer the tough question, 'what's for dinner?' every day," Huff said.

Sensibly Seasoned side

dishes offer consumers a healthy and tasty product to answer that question while helping reduce daily sodium

"Glory Foods offers Southern-style seasoned and savory foods in its line of products. That is the heritage Glory has among its consumers, as well as the reputation we have built with our grocers nationwide."

G. Barry Huff,
president of Glory Foods.

take as well as dietary fat. The Sensibly Seasoned products are also prepared in a way that meets the dietary needs of vegetarian cooking.

Based in Columbus, Ohio, Glory Foods is a leader in down home, Southern-style, heat-and-serve products and also offers a full line of other products including canned vegetables, frozen entrees and side dishes and fresh-cut, bagged vegetables. For more information about Glory Foods, they can be found on the Internet at www.gloryfoods.com.